

Melodi Lamé & Dr. Kamran Farahani

NOVEMBER 21, 2015

stunning display: As follows the Persian tradition, Melodi and Kamran’s wedding included an elaborate and luxurious Sofreh Aghd—a spread of symbolic items laid out on a raised platform, and explained by the officiant. The Sofreh Aghd included a beautiful acrylic tray filled with water, floating votives and rose petals. puppy love: As part of the couple’s wedding procession, their 4-year-old shih tzu puppy, Buttons, wore a tuxedo and red bow tie and walked in with Melodi’s nephew. under the stars: After the ceremony on the lawn, guests moved indoors for cocktails while the lawn space was flipped into a dining area—round tables, linens, high-low candle-peppered centerpieces. persia on the plate: Persian specialties such as saffron rice and maast o khiar (diced cucumbers, yogurt and dried mint) accompanied dinner mains of chicken, salmon and filet mignon.
