

Allison Spitz and Ryan Musser

MARCH 26, 2016

a naturally gorgeous venue: Allison and Ryan planned a spring garden-themed wedding among blooming wildflowers, historic and contemporary buildings and secluded paths. bring in the desert: Mini succulents purchased from a local garden and planted in DIY-decorated pots did triple duty as charming table decorations, meal cards and favors. 100 days, 100 ways: Every day for 100 days prior to the wedding, Allison and Ryan each wrote down one reason they could not wait to get married. They exchanged their books the night before the wedding, and agreed to read them before their first look. here comes your bride: Two little boys, Allie's youngest cousins, carried a sign reading, "Ryan, here comes your bride," bursting with pride as they surprised Ryan. what the groom says: Ryan says his favorite moment was when he introduced Allison as his wife at the reception.
